

MEET YOUR LEGISLATORS

11th Legislative District

State Senator
Bob Hasegawa
(D)

Representative Hasegawa is a longtime labor and social justice activist. He led many workers struggles, winning top wages and benefits for working families and retirees. As a union/community organizer, Hasegawa has long sought to build solidarity and bridges between social justice organizations, particularly those serving the labor, environmental, religious and communities of color.

Bob is the Chair of the Senate Majority Caucus (Democratic). His Senate standing committee assignments are: Rules; Ways & Means; State Government and Elections; and Business, Financial Services & Trade (vice chair).

State Representative
David Hackney
(D - position 1)

Representative Hackney's legal career started as an Assistant United States Attorney for the U.S. Department of Justice, where he tried more than 20 criminal jury trials. He also taught trial advocacy at the National Advocacy Center, and at the United Nations Mission in Kosovo. In 2019 Governor Inslee appointed him as a Commissioner on the Washington Human Rights Commission, and is currently an Adjunct Professor at the UW School of Law.

He serves on the Capital Budget (vice chair), Public Safety, and Transportation Committees.

State Representative
Steve Bergquist
(D - position 2)

Representative Bergquist is a public school teacher who has also been a small business owner.

His priorities include helping working families and small businesses recover from the pandemic, and ensuring students and educators from K-12 to higher education have the support they need.

He's currently a member of three committees: Appropriations (vice chair), Education and Rules. Steve also previously served as deputy majority floor leader.
