

MEET YOUR LEGISLATORS

9th Legislative District

State Senator
Mark Schoesler
(R)

Senator Schoesler is a fifth-generation dryland wheat farmer in Ritzville, the seat of Adams County, on land his family has been farming since the 1880s.

He prioritizes working for fiscal stability, through sustainable budgeting and reasonable taxation, and sensible policies. His particular interests, as a lawmaker, also include agriculture and state budget.

He serves on two Senate committees: Labor and Commerce; and Ways and Means.

State Representative
Mary Dye
(R - position 1)

Representative Dye is invested in the environment of the city, and deeply committed to restoring the infrastructure needed to sustain the natural resource economies in rural communities.

Dye has produced a viable alternative along with a menu of practical environmental solutions to the consequences of urban densification, what Dye refers to as Deep Urbanization.

She serves as the ranking member on the House Environment and Energy Committee, and serves on Appropriations, and Capital Budget Committees.

State Representative
Joe Schmick
(R - position 2)

Representative Schmick's extensive background in agriculture includes leadership roles in local, state and national Farm Bureau organizations, Grain Quality Committee, Washington Barley Commission, and the National Barley Improvement Committee.

Schmick serves on the House Appropriations Committee and the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee. He is the Ranking Member on the House Health Care and Wellness Committee, where he has focused his efforts on keeping quality health care affordable, accountable and accessible to all, especially those in underserved rural areas.
